

Matt is looking at his phone during his lunch break. He's hungry and wants a quick, cheap meal.

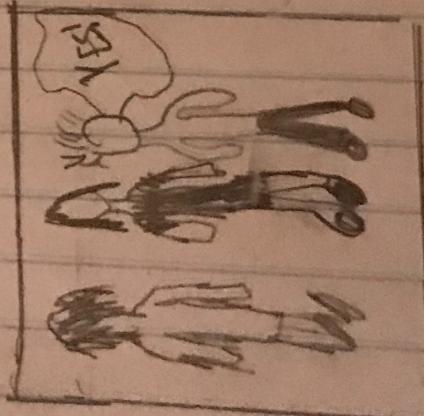

He looks at an app for local deals. He wants to try this deal, but needs 2 more people.

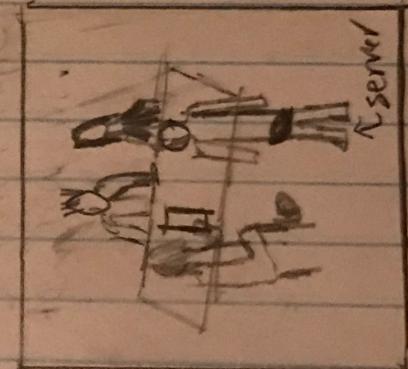

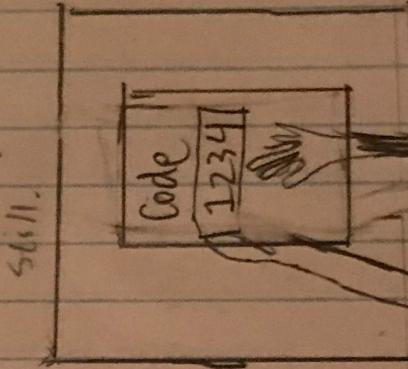

He's a little anxious. This is his second week on the job and he doesn't know anyone still.

He faces his fears and asks some waiters if they were interested in the deal he found.

They were!

They went to the restaurant together.

Matt finally made friends using the coupon app as an ice breaker.

He presented the deal to the server, who entered the coupon code.